Arista Networks announces the upcoming end of sale for model AP-C120. The product part numbers covered by this announcement are listed below in Table 1. This is effective immediately as the stock of these models is exhausted. This announcement does not constitute the start of the ‘End of Life’ cycle for these models. Customers with active support contracts will continue to receive support from Arista TAC (Technical Assistance Center) until a separate announcement of ‘End of Life’ milestones.

Migration Options

Customers are encouraged to plan a migration to newer models that provide equivalent or higher performance. The newer models support all existing features and o?er enhanced functionality.
